Large Crowds Hear Tribune's Bulletins

Superior bulletin service of The Tribune and Telegram yesterday delighted hundreds of fight fans who gathered in front of The Tribune building to hear the sharp cold, stood until the McCarthy-Palmer fight was flashed on the bulletin board. Several minutes ahead of all other bulletin service. Direct connection with the ring-side at Vernon gave this newspaper facilities for giving the public first information on the outcome of the heavyweight battle and hundreds were regaled with a detailed description of the happenings of every round.

A large majority of the crowd favored McCarthy and as the description showed the Missouriian's great battle was given out, the spectators expressed their dissatisfaction in cheers. The Palmer rout, if any, had little opportunity of making himself heard, but the giant Iowa was not altogether lacking in funds and his few flashes of form were always applauded.

Interest in the big fight was intense in Salt Lake and the telephone were kept busy until an early hour this morning answering queries as to the outcome.

TEAM REPRESENTATIVES WILL MEET TONIGHT

A meeting of the representatives of the various teams in the Commercial league will be held tonight at the Y. M. C. A.
A schedule will be adopted and complete organization made. All players desirous of making one of the teams will appear in uniform on the gym floor.

Most members of the old Y. M. C. A. team are either captains or managers in the new league. Hoffman, who started at center for the Y. boys when they were state champs, will head the Salt Lake Hardware squad; Holsington, an old Y. guard and former player on the Chicago team, will head the Hardware team.
Holsington will captain the guard position.
Gunn, Castro and Anderson are also likely to accept control of teams.

The interest manifest in basketball this season is at a greater pitch than ever before. The high school divisions are playing two teams throughout, the colleges are taking more interest in it, and the establishment of the Commercial league will do much to promote competition for the state title.

McCarthy drove hard right to Palmer's eye. Palmer missed to the right and a left. McCarthy ducked wild swings.
Palmer reached McCarthy's jaw with a hard right. Palmer staggered McCarthy with a hard straight left to the chin.
Palmer brought blood from McCarthy's lip with another straight left. They clashed. As he fell, Palmer stopped to shake hands with McCarthy. Round even.

Second Round.
McCarthy landed hard right to Palmer's jaw and forced Palmer to make several vicious swings. They exchanged rights to head and hard body blows in a clinch. McCarthy drove a terrific left to Palmer's left eye. Palmer reached McCarthy's face with two straight lefts and McCarthy sent Palmer's head back with a left to the face.
Both landed hard lefts to the face.
McCarthy brought blood from Palmer's nose with a right swing and sent swift lefts and rights to the stomach. Mc-Carthy apparently landed at will on Palmer's stomach. McCarthy's round.

Third Round.
Palmer sent right to the body and put two hard rights to the stomach. Both missed and they went into a clinch.
McCarthy rammed straight left into Palmer's face and followed with right and left to the body. McCarthy landed light left to face and cleverly blocked a terrific swing. Palmer in a clinch crossed with a left to McCarthy's face. McCarthy rammed Palmer's jaw with right and left with terrific speed. They exchanged blows in the center of the ring. Mc-Carthy's round.

Fourth Round.
After feinting, McCarthy landed light left to the face and drove a right to stomach. McCarthy missed a left swing and Palmer drove right to the wind, following it with a left to the head. Despite Palmer's great strength, McCarthy had little difficulty in holding him in the clinches. McCarthy swung hard right and left to the face and Palmer sent three straight lefts to the jaw. Mc-Carthy put right to Palmer's jaw. Round even.

Fifth Round.
Both of Palmer's eyes were swollen when he came up in the fifth. Mc-Carthy drove a hard right to the ribs and they exchanged blows at long distance in the center of the ring. Mc-Carthy sent a right to the chin and swung a hard right uppercut. Palmer drove a vicious right to McCarthy's heart. Palmer's head rocked from right to left under McCarthy's well timed swings. Palmer missed swings and Mc-Carthy drove right to stomach, following with two lefts to the face, causing Palmer's mouth and nose to bleed. Palmer sent a hard right to McCarthy's chin, but the cowboy merely grinned. Mc-Carthy's round.

Sixth Round.
Palmer put two straight lefts to Mc-Carthy's face, causing another flow of blood from Palmer's mouth. They exchanged blows to the head. McCarthy sent Palmer's head back with a left jab, which he followed with a hard left swing. He again rocked Palmer's head with a short left swing and caused Palmer to miss a vicious right uppercut.
Palmer sent McCarthy to the ropes with two lefts to the face, but McCarthy bounced back smiling. McCarthy landed three hard lefts to the face. McCarthy worked left swings with good effect to Palmer's face. Palmer went to his corner looking groggy. McCarthy's round.

Seventh Round.
Palmer sent three lefts to the face and McCarthy retaliated with a hard right to the stomach in the clinch that followed. McCarthy drove a terrible right to Palmer's jaw, nearly throwing him off his feet. Two straight lefts in rapid succession sent Palmer's head back and McCarthy followed with a volley of swings to the face. Palmer reached Mc-Carthy's jaw with a left and the Mis-souriian came back with a right hook to the chin. Palmer's left ear bled. Both were laughing as they went to their corners. McCarthy's round.

Eighth Round.
McCarthy flailed Palmer's head with rights and lefts. Neither attempted to do any fighting in the clinch that followed. McCarthy sent hard right to wind and left to face. Palmer rocked McCarthy's head with two straight lefts.
McCarthy put vicious right to Palmer's jaw and followed with a hard left to the chin. Both exchanged blows to the body. McCarthy's round by a shade.

Ninth Round.
Palmer rushed into a clinch and Mc-Carthy sent right to the body and left to the jaw. McCarthy again reached Palmer's jaw and stomach with rights and lefts to face and they clinched.
McCarthy drove a right to the stomach and both rested in a clinch. Palmer put a right to the stomach. McCarthy smiled and showed that Palmer's blow did little damage. Palmer drove a terrific left to the wind and McCarthy followed with a vicious right swing that sent Palmer's head back. Palmer had his eyes most of the time on his own corner, where his manager, Tom O'Rourke, coached him through a megaphone. The round was even.

Tenth Round.
Palmer came up aggressively and put three lefts to McCarthy's jaw. Both appeared to be coming up. Three straight lefts followed by a hard right brought the blood from Palmer's eye. McCarthy slipped to the mat, but was up in an instant and eluded a clumsy uppercut with which Palmer tried to reach him.
Palmer came back with a right hook to McCarthy's jaw and McCarthy sent a
again rocked Palmer's head with a left uppercut to the chin and Palmer was dazed as he went to his corner. The crowd dazed to its feet, yelling for McCarthy.
McCarthy's round.

Eleventh Round.
McCarthy drove hard right to the heart and put a left to the jaw. They clinched. As they broke away McCarthy placed his right to the jaw, but Palmer only smiled. McCarthy drove a terrific left to Palmer's right eye and Palmer was almost blinded. He rushed McCarthy desperately, only to be met by a
dazed as he went to his corner. The crowd
dazed to its feet, yelling for McCarthy.
McCarthy's round.

Twelfth Round.
McCarthy staggered Palmer with a volley of rights and lefts to the jaw, followed by a terrific right to the stomach.

drove right and left. McCarthy landed stomach. McCarthy sent a crashing left to Palmer's mouth and Palmer reeled stupidly about, vainly trying to reach McCarthy. McCarthy again reached Palmer's face with a right and left. Both of Palmer's cheeks and his mouth and right eye were bleeding profusely. Palmer again closed in, to get a straight right in the stomach. Palmer did not land a blow during the round. Mc-Carthy's round.

Thirteenth Round.
Palmer rushed and was met by a left to the wind. McCarthy staggered Palmer with a right to the jaw and they clinched. Palmer reached McCarthy's ribs with his long left and the cowboy sent his crashing right against Palmer's jaw. McCarthy rocked Palmer's head from side to side at will. A terrific right swing cut Palmer's left ear. Mc-Carthy sent two terrific swings to the farmer's head and body with no come back. McCarthy drove two hard rights to Palmer's face, the crash of which was heard at the farthest corner of the arena. As the bell rang McCarthy smothered Palmer with a fusillade of terrific swings to the head and body and Palmer reeled to his corner.

Fourteenth Round.
Palmer came up viciously, and after reaching McCarthy with right straight arm blows, McCarthy again staggered him with a series of straight lefts to the face and stomach. Palmer was standing up under terrific punishment and apparently had no defense. A crashing left at this stage that only the landing of a chance knockout blow would save him. McCarthy smiled as he took a hard left to the face, again working his right and left to Palmer's face with precision, against which the farmer ap-
left to Palmer's stomach caused Palmer to stagger. All McCarthy's round.

Fifteenth Round.
Palmer jumped into a clinch and neither damaged the other. Palmer put a left to the jaw and a right to the stomach. McCarthy staggered Palmer with a left and a right to the jaw. A hard left to the jaw staggered Palmer, and as the latter rushed the cowboy sent shot rights and lefts to the face.
McCarthy followed the staggering Palmer about the ring and sent his right and left at will to the face and body. Palmer hung onto McCarthy's neck as the Missourian shot rights and lefts to the wind. Palmer was sadly dazed at the bell and appeared to be weakening rapidly.

Sixteenth Round.
Palmer rushed in awkwardly and Mc-Carthy placed rights and lefts to the body. Palmer tried to reach McCarthy, but every time he advanced McCarthy reached his stomach with deadly precision. McCarthy drove Palmer's head back repeatedly with terrific left swings. Palmer was staggering about the ring. It appeared that the end was near for Palmer. The Iowa rallied here and poked his left to McCarthy's face and the cowboy again sent him back with well placed blows to the stomach.
Palmer was hanging on as the bell rang.
Palmer was all but out as the round ended.

Seventeenth Round.
Palmer was groggy as he came up for the seventeenth round, but there was no doubt of his courage. His ability to assimilate punishment appeared to be his sole asset. McCarthy put two terrific rights to the jaw and followed with straight lefts to the jaw almost finishing Palmer and the Iowa hung on with his eyes half closed. Palmer hit McCarthy low and the referee cautioned the big fellow. A crashing right hook to the jaw followed by a left swing to the other side of his head made Palmer hang on again. McCarthy flitted with Palmer's manager as the Iowa went to the floor.

Eighteenth Round.
Palmer stumbled into a terrific left hook and hung on to McCarthy's shoulder. McCarthy shot a hard left to the jaw and played a terrific tattoo on Palmer's body. The blood flowed from Palmer's eyes and mouth as McCarthy shot two terrific straight lefts to his head. As Palmer staggered about blindly Referee Eytan rushed to McCarthy and held up his right glove.
